

ABSTRACT

The invention provides a revocation information transmission method, revocation information reception method, revocation information transmitting apparatus, and revocation information receiving apparatus, wherein all the video output apparatuses such as STB may have a revocation list in common, and it is possible to exclude unjust display and to improve the security of the digital interface for connecting a video output apparatus to a display. The revocation information transmission method comprises at least a step of preparing integrated revocation information by integrating the revocation information of the contents transmitting equipment or contents receiving equipment, a step of packetizing the integrated revocation list and multiplexing it into a stream, and a step of transmitting the stream.